I think I need a bigger box

In the 90's when a re-make of the movie Godzilla hit the big screen, a series of commercials starring the Taco Bell Chihuahua debuted as well. A memorable scene found the tiny dog setting traps for Godzilla, consisting merely of a cardboard box and rope. Hilarity ensued when the monster appeared and the dog quipped, "I think I need a bigger box". The campaign was good for a laugh, and the sale of many more tacos.

But there's more to those ads than meets the eye. Consider how like that tiny dog we Christians are, daily facing a ferocious enemy armed with small tools and great faith. We try again and again as the world laughs in our face, to conquer huge obstacles in God's name. Like that persistent pooch, we stand holding the rope of our faith, believing that our "trap" is armed with more than the flimsy cardboard of human skills. Because we know at the end of our rope is something bigger than us, bigger than the monsters, bigger than all the evil in this world. We believe that when God called us to be "fishers of men" He armed us with all we need. We don't need a bigger box, we've got a bigger God.

Throughout history individuals have answered the personal call they received from the Lord. Jonah was reluctant at first, but followed God's call to warn the people of Nineveh about the coming doom. As Jesus began his ministry of bringing the Good News to mankind he called Simon and Andrew and James and John. Once called by Jesus they dropped what they were doing and followed the Lord. After spending time listening to Jesus and watching Him these disciples were ready to continue the work of spreading the Gospel.

May our ears be open when Jesus calls and may we respond with the promptness of the fishermen from Galilee.
